The Oxford University Clinical Research Unit Viet Nam (OUCRU-VN) is an internationally funded research organisation based in the Hospital for Tropical Diseases in Ho Chi Minh City and Ha Noi, conducting clinical and laboratory based research on tropical infectious diseases. OUCRU-VN has a strong emphasis on training and every year we offer fellowships for students to undertake international PhDs based in HCMC or Hanoi and registered at a university in the UK. We are currently advertising 12 PhDs projects for students to start from January 2014. Details of the projects can be found on our website www.oucru.org/training.

The application deadline for these available projects is 7th October 2013 (Jan 2014 registration). The next round of projects will be available for applications on 1st March 2014 (Summer 2014 registration). The application form can be downloaded from: www.oucru.org/training/application

We would welcome applicants from your institute for the PhD fellowships in 2013 and for other training opportunities as well. We would be very grateful if you would distribute the attached flyer to the relevant science departments and bring your student's notice to these adverts.

Please do not hesitate to contact us for further information regarding the PhD fellowship programme. If you would like printed copies of this poster to display at your institute or university please send us your address.
